

Dear Parent/Care Giver,

Your child's year level will be hosting a ThinkUKnow presentation on the 23/05/24. A parent presentation will be held on the same evening at 6:00pm until 7:30pm.

The ThinkUKnow program, including presentations and resources, have been developed by the Australian Federal Police to prevent online child sexual exploitation.

Educational resources are informed by reports to the Australian Centre to Counter Child Exploitation, to ensure content delivered is addressing and responding to current trends seen by law enforcement.

Our presentation will be delivered by representatives from SAPOL.

Topics are dependent on developmental stages and aim to help students at all levels build critical thinking skills and recognise unsafe situations online. Primary aged presentations focus on topics such as privacy, inappropriate contact and help seeking behaviours. High school age students will discuss issues such as inappropriate contact, online grooming, image sharing, and sextortion.

The topics discussed in the presentations are linked to the relevant year level within the current Australian Curriculum. If you would like to view more information on these topics, please visit our website here.

The aim of the ThinkUKnow program is to reduce the incidence of online child sexual exploitation through education, and to encourage help seeking behaviours so no victim feels they are alone.

Your child may have questions following this information session. The ThinkUKnow website has information and advice for parents and carers, including resources to learn more about how to help children in your care.

If you have any questions related to the program or require more information, please email the ThinkUKnow team at online-child-safety@afp.gov.au

Regards,
